DANGEROUS MARINE LIFE

Please remember that the ocean waters are home to a variety of potentially hazardous marine life to include seals, jellyfish, sharks, etc. In the past decade the Cape Cod region, especially Truro, has observed an increased population of grey and harbor seals. The region has become home to many of the seals for several months every year. The increased seal population has attracted great white sharks, which depend on seals as the staple of their diet. Please remember to use caution when swimming and follow some basic guidelines.

- Do Not Swim Near Seals
- Swim Close To Shore
- Do Not Swim Alone
- Avoid Swimming At Dusk/Dawn

If you believe you view a shark and you’re at a beach with a lifeguard, report the sighting to the lifeguard. If there isn’t a lifeguard on duty, report the sighting to the local law enforcement as soon as practical - Truro Police Department (508)487-8730. If someone is in the water, get their attention and call them out of the water.

PROTECTING THE DUNES

Despite their hearty appearance, the dunes are remarkably fragile. Beach grass anchors the shifting sands of the dunes, protecting the beaches from erosion. Please keep to the established paths and observe the rights of private property owners. Climbing or biking on the dunes is dangerous and is prohibited on all of the Truro Town Beaches.

WILDLIFE PROTECTION

Piping Plovers, Terns and other endangered birds nest along the beaches in Truro. Periodically, areas of beach may be restricted to the public. Please obey the signs posted in the bird’s nesting areas. ABSOLUTELY NO DOGS OR OTHER ANIMALS ALLOWED IN PROTECTED AREAS. Piping plovers are protected by State and Federal Law. It is the intention of our town to provide a safe environment to help these endangered species. Your cooperation and respect is greatly appreciated.

WHEELCHAIR ACCESS

In an effort to increase beach access for individuals with disabilities, Corn Hill beach is equipped with a boardwalk leading out to the beach and Head of the Meadow beach is equipped with a mobi-mat to allow beach wheelchair access. Beach wheelchairs are available for use at Corn Hill between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. daily June 16th through September 2nd. Handicap access portable toilets are available at all beaches. Welcome to Truro...

The Town of Truro boasts eleven beautiful town beaches. Parking spaces at all town beaches are limited and is restricted to those vehicles bearing a valid Beach parking sticker. Stickers do not guarantee a parking space; parking at each beach is available on a first-come, first-served basis for all sticker owners. When a beach parking lot is full, sticker holders are invited to visit another beach with parking availability. Vehicles may not sit idle to "wait" for spots to become available. Motor vehicle operators are permitted to drop off beach goers at the entrance of the lot, but the operator must remain in the vehicle during the drop off. Larger public parking facilities are available at Head of the Meadow beach on the ocean side and Corn Hill beach on the bayside (See map.) These two beaches are equipped with ample parking (160+ spots) for vehicles with Truro Beach Stickers or Daily Hang Tags. Daily Vehicle Hang Tags may be purchased for $10/day by the general public. Hang Tags are available from the attendant on duty and are only valid at Corn Hill Beach and Head of the Meadow Beach. Stickers are available at the Truro Beach Office located at 36 Shore Rd., North Truro (Rt 6A). NEW THIS YEAR: Resident stickers may also be requested by mail by completing the Resident Sticker Request Form, found in rental registration mailings or on our website at www.truro-ma.gov/recreation.
